DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kittson (U.S. Patent No. 6,315,499 B1) in view of Kurihara et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,613,975 B1).

Kittson '499 discloses a reinforcing strip, for supporting a reinforced earth wall, comprising:

with regard to claim 6, a plurality of fabric bundles arranged in parallel and coated with resin (col. 5, lines 15 through 23).

Kittson '499 fails to teach a folding groove formed in the central portion of the strip in the lengthwise direction, the folding groove being formed in upper and lower surfaces of the reinforcing strip.

Kurihara et al. '975, as best seen in Figure 4, show a material comprising a folding groove formed in upper and lower surfaces of the material.

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the apparatus disclosed by Kittson '499 such that it would further include a folding groove as taught by Kurihara et al. '975. The motivation would have been to provide the reinforcing strip with means to facilitate folding in the lengthwise direction and for maintaining the strip in its folded position.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed 20 June 2008 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., the folding groove being formed in the reinforcing strip of the claimed invention for ease of insertion into a groove formed on the front block of an earth wall) are not recited in the rejected claim(s).

Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Therefore, the relation of the wall block groove is irrelevant to the recited folding groove in the reinforcing strip because the reinforcing strip is not claimed in combination with a wall block.

In response to applicant's argument that Kurihara et al. '975 is nonanalogous art, it has been held that a prior art reference must either be in the field of applicant's endeavor or, if not, then be reasonably pertinent to the particular problem with which the applicant was concerned, in order to be relied upon as a basis for rejection of the claimed invention. See In re Oetiker, 977 F.2d 1443, 24 USPQ2d 1443 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the teachings of Kurihara et al. '975 expressly relate to the issue of folding.

Conclusion

4. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
